Friends of the South Downs help to protect the beauty of the Downs...

Please consider leaving a legacy or making a donation to fund our projects.

Friends of the South Downs was originally founded in 1923, as the Society of Sussex Downsmen. A group of local people who were dismayed at the random development of Peacehaven on the chalk cliffs near Brighton and were determined to protect the landscape for posterity.

We were one of Britain's earliest conservation organisations and rapidly gained members and influence in seeking to protect the whole of the South Downs National Park.

For almost 100 years our charity has been working to protect the beauty of the Downs by campaigning on planning issues, promoting access and conservation and encouraging people to get to know and enjoy the area.

Our members and supporters are generous, but we constantly need to raise funds to continue our work.

You could help us to achieve valuable projects like these:

- We paid for improvements to the South Downs Way at Plumpton Plain.
- We are running a lottery-funded project to help school children learn how previous generations worked and played on the Downs.
- We are paying for kissing gates to replace stiles to improve access to the Downs.
- We are contributing £5,000 to a tree-planting programme in small towns and villages.
- We are installing rustic benches along the South Downs Way.
- A planning campaign: "The Friends of the South Downs have helped us preserve the rural hamlet of Greatham from grandiose and inappropriate development. We are most grateful for their constructive and dedicated support. They play such an important part in safeguarding the heritage of the South Downs."
- Robert Englehart.

Long standing member Stella Moore left a significant legacy to the Friends of the South Downs. Her family said, "Walking on the Downs was a firm favourite activity of Stella."

Society member Ian Leslie, "loved walking on the Downs". In his memory, his family made a substantial donation "to help protect and enhance the beauty of the Downs".

A generous life member recently donated £1,000 (which increases to £1,200 after gift aid) to help pay for kissing gates and benches.
